PARENTS' TESTIMONIES

Writing and passing examinations ordinarily would appear to many as no big deal, especially when one is oblivious of the background and circumstances surrounding the writing of the examinations as well as the candidate's prior academic form and status. However having had the privilege of parenting Samuel from his early days in life and his capability as at when he came into Destiny International College (DIC), we (the parent) could see nothing but the hand of God, the connection with the anointing and the world class education structure of DIC in all these extra-ordinary performance. We are very pleased not only with his academic growth but his psychological maturity, high level of discipline, moral values and his spiritual development.

I remember, vividly, that Samuel could hardly pass the DIC entrance examination about 3years ago. It was so bad that the teachers were reluctant at offering him admission but for the intervention of the CEO, Rev. (Mrs) Oyenike Areogun. Today, God through the seasoned DIC team has transformed his life. The transformation was so evident that even friends and neighbour took note of it. To quote one of them: "so Samuel can be this calm and study on his own?"

Within his first year at DIC, he sat for DELF, an international French examination and came top with 79%. We thought that was a fluke but his performance in the WAEC 'O' level examination which he sat for when he was in SS2 (a year before he was due for it) and which we learnt he hardly had 2 weeks to prepare for as well as the Cambridge 'O' Level examination and cleared all at one sitting with good grades (distinctions and credit), have proven us wrong.

We are therefore very grateful to the Chairman and CEO (Rev. and Rev. Mrs Olusola Areogun) for the vision and for assembling such an industrious and committed team; and of course for providing a conducive environment that enables them to perform and produce world class students.

Long live DIC, long live Nigeria.
